outofprint records Unveils Innovative Single Blending UK and US House Vibes

Revolutionary Collaboration between T. Nguyen and SelectVibes Merges Diverse Musical Cultures in a Groundbreaking Release

outofprint records announces the release of a groundbreaking single, representing a collaborative masterpiece between T. Nguyen and SelectVibes. This single stands out as a blend of UK organ house and classic New York 90's vibes, demonstrating an innovative fusion of diverse musical styles and traditions.

Brooklyn, New York March 20, 2024

outofprint records is proud to announce the release of its latest musical endeavor, a single that marks a significant milestone in electronic house music. This release features the collaborative genius of T. Nguyen and SelectVibes, blending the rhythmic essence of UK garage with the soulful beats of classic New York house.

T. Nguyen opens the track with an organ melody overlying soft horn pads, escalating into a wide stereo field of vocals and culminating in a heavy bass breakdown reminiscent of early UK Garage (UKG) days. His version includes a piano riff that pays homage to the classic house song "Move Your Body" by Marshall Jefferson, bringing a touch of nostalgia to modern soundscapes.

SelectVibes adds his unique interpretation, incorporating found samples characteristic of 90's UK music and garage drum patterns from the 2000s. His contribution infuses the track with a classic New York 90's vibe, creating a seamless transition across various dancefloor grooves.

The artwork for this release, a creative collaboration with Team Green, repurposes visuals from previous EPs, presenting a cohesive and innovative aesthetic that resonates with the track's musical fusion.

Thanhuyen Nguyen, speaking about this venture, said, "This single is not just a song; it's a cultural symphony. It's where the soul of UK's organ house meets the rhythm of New York's classic 90's vibe. We're bridging oceans and decades to create something that resonates with every beat."
